Adoption of the agenda

The agenda was adopted.

The situation in Côte d'Ivoire

Letter dated 7 October 2009 from the Chairman of the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 1572 (2004) concerning Côte d'Ivoire addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2009/521)

The President: I should like to inform the Council that I have received a letter from the representative of Côte d'Ivoire, in which he requests to be invited to participate in the consideration of the item on the Council's agenda. In conformity with the usual practice, I propose, with the consent of the Council, to invite that representative to participate in the consideration of the item, without the right to vote, in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Charter and rule 37 of the Council's provisional rules of procedure.

There being no objection, it is so decided.

At the invitation of the President, Mr Djedje (Côte d'Ivoire) took a seat at the Council table.

The President: The Security Council will now begin its consideration of the item on its agenda. The Council is meeting in accordance with the understanding reached in its prior consultations.

Members of the Council have before them document S/2009/560, which contains the text of a draft resolution submitted by France.

I wish to draw the attention of the members of the Council to document S/2009/521, which contains the text of a letter dated 7 October 2009 from the Chairman of the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 1572 (2004) concerning Côte d'Ivoire addressed to the President of the Security Council and transmitting the report of the Group of Experts on Côte d'Ivoire.

It is my understanding that the Council is ready to proceed to the vote on the draft resolution before it. Unless I hear any objection, I shall put the draft resolution to the vote now.

There being no objection, it is so decided.

A vote was taken by show of hands.

In favour:

Austria, Burkina Faso, China, Costa Rica, Croatia, France, Japan, Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Mexico, Russian Federation, Turkey, Uganda, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America, Viet Nam

The President: There were 15 votes in favour. The draft resolution has been adopted unanimously as resolution 1893 (2009).

I now give the floor to the representative of Côte d'Ivoire.

Mr. Djedje (Côte d'Ivoire) (spoke in French): My delegation would like to take the opportunity provided by this meeting of the Security Council devoted to sanctions to explain the position of the Government of Côte d'Ivoire.

It should be recalled that it was the African Union, in 2004, that raised the issue of sanctions against Côte d'Ivoire. For some time now, the Economic Community of African States (ECOWAS) and the African Union have called for the lifting of those sanctions. Against that backdrop, on 24 April 2009 my delegation asked the Security Council to review the individual sanctions against certain Ivorian political stakeholders. Moreover, we did so on the basis of the Ouagadougou Political Agreement (see S/2007/144, annex), which, in its paragraph 6.4, calls for the immediate lifting of individual sanctions. It should also be recalled that the Ouagadougou Agreement was endorsed by ECOWAS and the African Union, of which the Security Council took note.

The Ivorian peace process cannot proceed without the support of the international community. The need to back that hopeful process requires that the individual measures taken against certain Ivorian political stakeholders be reviewed, given the current environment of peace and reconciliation and the resolute commitment of those individuals in the search for peace and reconciliation. The question asked today by all Ivorians is whether United Nations sanctions exist for the purpose of repression. Is the goal to punish individuals, or by means of sanctions to restore peace in Côte d'Ivoire? Now that the former belligerents are actively contributing to the return of lasting peace and have reconciled with one another, is there any other goal that the United Nations might want to achieve by maintaining these sanctions?

In our view, sanctions should be applied in accordance with the United Nations Charter and relevant provisions of international law and following impartial and specific criteria. Sanctions should have clearly defined objectives and in any case should never be imposed for purposes of repression or retaliation. The purpose of sanctions is to ensure that a country, a party, an individual or an entity changes its behaviour. The purpose of sanctions is not to chastise or to punish in any way whatsoever. Moreover, sanctions should be accompanied by specific deadlines and time-tables. They should be subject to periodic review and be lifted as soon as they have achieved their goals. The situation has substantially changed since November 2004, when resolution 1572 (2004) was passed, and there is no reason why individual sanctions should be maintained.

I would therefore like to express my delegation's disappointment at the outcome of the vote on today's resolution, which certainly does not correspond to what the Government of Côte d'Ivoire had hoped for. My delegation had expected to obtain today a clear commitment by the Security Council to lift sanctions after the presidential elections.

The fact that identical resolutions have followed one another since 2004, while the situation has steadily improved in Côte d'Ivoire, shows the anachronistic nature of today's decision to maintain the sanctions regime for yet another year. The resolution adopted today is not, in fact, designed to assist Ivorians in their process of reconciliation, which has made great progress since the signing of the Ouagadougou Political Agreement and which is but a few weeks away from completion following the presidential elections.

If, way of conclusion, I would like to point out that given the obstacles that my Government faces at the level of the Security Council, Côte d'Ivoire will now undertake steps at the level of the Economic Community of West African States to implement the provisions of the Ouagadougou Agreement, namely the immediate lifting of sanctions against individuals and the lifting of the arms embargo three months after the presidential elections. Similar steps will also be undertaken at the level of the African Union.

The President: There are no further speakers on my list. The Security Council has thus concluded the present stage of its consideration of the item on its agenda. The Security Council will resume consideration of the matter.

The meeting ends at 22:03 p.m.

Adoption of the agenda

The agenda was adopted.

Consideration of the draft report of the Security Council to the General Assembly

The President: The Security Council will now proceed to the consideration of its annual report to the General Assembly, for the period from 1 August 2008 to 31 July 2009.

Members of the Council have before them the draft report. The introduction to the draft report was prepared by the delegation of Uganda, as President of the Council in July 2009, with the participation of the other members of the Council. The body of the report was prepared by the Secretariat. I should like to express appreciation to Uganda and the Secretariat for their respective contributions.

I should like to point out that the draft report was prepared in accordance with the notes by the President of 19 July 2006 (S/2006/507) and 19 December 2007 (S/2007/749).

I now give the floor to the representative of Uganda in his capacity as head of the delegation responsible for drafting the introduction to this year's annual report.

Mr. Rugunda (Uganda): Uganda, as President of the Security Council for the month of July 2009, was responsible for the preparation of the introduction of the annual report of the Security Council to the General Assembly, as you stated, Sir, in your introductory remarks. In preparing the draft introduction, we relied mainly on the monthly assessments and views expressed by Council members. We were guided by the need to ensure that the report was concise, accurate and adequately reflected the Council's work, activities and outcomes. The instances in which the Council was not able to take action are also reported.

The first draft was circulated at the beginning of August this year to all Security Council members and to the Secretariat for their comments and input. It was revised three times, incorporating the comments received.

The Council carried out extensive work during the reporting period, characterized by an increase in the holding of open debates and open briefings. The Council addressed a wide range of regional, thematic and general issues, as highlighted in the introduction.

The report covers the three Council missions to the field in Afghanistan, Haiti and Africa. The Security Council was regularly briefed and took appropriate actions on developments in conflict situations in Africa. The Council also focused on strengthening the strategic partnership between the United Nations and regional organizations, particularly the African Union.

The Council intensified its engagement on the situations in the Asian region, including Iraq, Myanmar, Nepal, Sri Lanka and Timor-Leste. The situation in the Middle East, including the Palestinian question, received the close of the Council, particularly with regard to the situation in the Gaza area in late 2008 and early 2009.

The Council also devoted close attention to the consideration of thematic, general and other issues, including peacekeeping, peacebuilding, mediation and the settlement of conflicts, non-proliferation, terrorism, the protection of civilians in armed conflict, children and armed conflict, and women and peace and security.

I wish to inform the Council that, following the precedent set by Viet Nam last year, an informal meeting with Member States to exchange views on the annual report is scheduled for 30 October. The President of the Council, the incoming President, Ambassador Mayr-Harting of Austria, and I will participate. We consider those interactions useful as part of the process of fostering a closer working relationship between the Security Council and the General Assembly.

Finally, I would like to express my delegation's appreciation and gratitude to all Council members, as well as former members, for their contribution and cooperation. Last but not least, we thank and commend the Secretariat for their invaluable support and assistance.

The President: There are no further speakers on my list. It is my understanding that the Council is ready to proceed to the adoption of its annual report.

May I take it that the draft report is adopted by the Council?

There being no objection, it is so decided.

This decision will be reflected in a note by the President of the Security Council to be issued as document S/2009/559.

The Security Council has thus concluded its consideration of the item on its agenda.

As this may be, and hopefully is, the last Council meeting under the presidency of Viet Nam, I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to all of my colleagues in the Council, who have extended most valuable cooperation to my delegation. I also wish to thank the Council Secretariat team for its continued support throughout the month and all those in the Secretariat staff who have worked behind the scenes in supporting the work of the presidency.
